PREFATORY NOTE

This index undertakes to deal only with the printed reports of administrative officers, legislative committees, and special commissions of the states and with governors' messages for the period since 1792. It does not refer to constitutions, laws, legislative proceedings or court decisions, except in so far as they happen to be found in the class of documents above mentioned. It attempts, on the other hand, to furnish a list, as complete as possible, of all the documents and messages which fall within its scope, in whatever form they may have been published, whether separately, in collected documents, legislative journals or volumes of laws, and to indicate the volume in which they may be found. In general, unless otherwise shown, the material indexed is in the New York Public Library. In addition to furnishing a list of reports and messages, the index undertakes to supply a reference by volume and page to all material of economic importance which they contain, with the exception of that contained in the reports of bureaus of labor. The reason for this exception is that these reports have already been indexed by the late Carroll D. Wright, then United States Commissioner of Labor,[1] in a volume published by his department in 1902.

Although the index is confined to matter of economic bearing, the term "economic" has been given a broad interpretation. In view of this liberal interpretation it is believed that the index will constitute a useful addition to the resources of students of almost any aspect of American history.

It will be seen that the present index differs both in scope and character from R. R. Bowker's "State Publications," the valuable pioneer work in this field. It is narrower in scope than "State Publications," which aims to present a list not only of reports and governors' messages but of all state documents; but in the field which the present work covers it contains not only a more complete list of documents than has hitherto been published but also an index of their contents in so far as these have an economic bearing.

The arrangement is alphabetical by topics. The references under each topic are divided into two groups, viz., "serial" and "non-serial." Within each of these divisions the arrangement is chronological. Numerous cross-references will, it is hoped, make it possible to discover with little difficulty all the material bearing on a topic. It is to be remarked that the division of serial reports into more than one series occurs whenever there is a change in title, in the authority making the report or in frequency of issue. It will be seen that this division is not an arbitrary one. It is made in the belief that the reason for it can be more clearly shown in this way than by a narrative explanation.

[1] Index of all reports issued by bureaus of labor statistics in the U. S. prior to Mch. 1, 1902. Wash., 1902. 287 pp. 8°.

Uniform entry words for subjects recurring in different states will be retained throughout the series. It will thus be possible to make a study not only of the historical development of an economic subject as reflected in the documents of an individual state but also to make a comparative study of that development as it has taken place in the country at large. To accomplish this purpose it has been necessary to make the selection of entry words without reference to the peculiarities of local usage, such peculiarities being recognized in the case of each state by cross-references. The abbreviations employed are believed to be sufficiently obvious to make a table of them unnecessary. Unless otherwise stated the size of the books is octavo.

A feature introduced in the New York part of this index, and not employed in the preceding parts (i. e. Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont), is the system of references from locality. This feature has been made a part of the succeeding issues.

The regrettable fact must be recorded that it has not been possible to collate a continuous file of Kentucky Journals and Documents. The index for Kentucky is the first in this series of indexes, which it is necessary to issue with unfortunate lacunæ in the " Collected Documents " set. Every reasonable effort was made to discover these missing Journals and Documents. The many destructive fires in Frankfort probably account, in a large measure, for the disappearance of these volumes. It seems hardly probable, however, that every copy of a Journal could have been destroyed, and it is hoped that, as has happened with other " lost " books, a copy or copies of these Journals will yet be found by someone more successful than the present compiler.

It was thought best not to assign serial numbers to the Collected Documents, until all the journals and documents shall have been recorded.

Such of the Kentucky departmental reports as are not owned by the New York Public Library were indexed by the compiler, or an assistant, in the field. This necessitated the examination of at least four libraries in Washington, one in Frankfort, two in Lexington, one in Louisville and two in Boston. When, upon the resulting material having been assembled, any doubt as to the reliability of any portion of it manifested itself to the compiler, and verification was not feasible, this doubt has been indicated by the insertion of an interrogation mark.

The present volume has been preceded by eight similar volumes, devoted to the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, California, and Illinois, respectively. It will be followed by others, each devoted to a single state. The work when completed will, therefore, furnish an index to the economic material in the reports and governors' messages of all the states of the Union.

In the preparation of this volume the collection of the New York Public Library has been used as a basis. The collections of the Library of Congress, the Kentucky State Library, the Lexington Public Library, the Library of Kentucky University, Col. Durrett's Library in Louisville, the Massachusetts State Library, the Boston Public Library, the Kentucky collections in the Bureau of Education, the Surgeon General's Office, and the Geological Survey have also been examined. Acknowledgment is made for courtesies extended by each of these institutions in the course of the compilation of the present volume.

COLLECTED DOCUMENTS

It has not been possible to describe all the Journals and Reports of Kentucky. It was known that some of them were uncommon and a special effort was made to locate copies. Not meeting with success it was necessary to send the volume to press with several unfortunate lacunæ.

If copies of these missing Journals are found in the future it will not be in any one of the large libraries of Kentucky. These have been examined as well as the large eastern libraries.

Taken as a whole the collections of the Kentucky State Library and of the Library of Congress are the best for working purposes. That of the Massachusetts State Library is next in rank. The Library of Col. Durrett in Louisville is richer in early Journals than the Kentucky State Library.

Owing to the peculiar lettering of some of the Documents of the eighties and nineties, collectors may sometimes be embarrassed in filling up sets. It is hoped that the collation for these years as given below, is exact. Every reasonable effort was made to make it so. Because, however, of experience with the elusiveness of some of these volumes, absolute accuracy is not claimed for the collation.

6 General Assembly
Special session
Nov. 27-30, 1797

The reason for calling this special session was that an act giving further time to owners of land to survey the same, and for returning plats and certificates to the Register's office, would expire on the the last day of November, whereby individuals would sustain injury. (Ky. Gazette Dec. 2, 1797.) The proclamation of Gov. Garrard convening the General Assembly on Nov. 27, following, is dated Nov. 3, 1797. It is printed in the Kentucky Gazette of Nov. 8, 1797.

* Thereafter the seat of government was permanently fixed at Frankfort.

COURT OF APPEALS

All the material which was found in the Ky. state documents concerning the replevin and relief law controversy of 1823-1825 has been concentrated here. It seemed more expedient, as well as more useful to do this rather than to scatter the few otherwise related entries since the point in question was chiefly one of legislative and judiciary jurisdiction. References have been made from all related subjects. Shaler (Kentucky, p. 181) quotes "Patriot" and "Spirit of '76," two weekly journals created as organs of relief and anti-relief parties in controversy of 1823-1825, as containing full records of debates outside of legislature "during trial of this momentous issue before the people."

Crop Bulletins

Unfortunately it has not been possible to locate a file of these bulletins. No collation is consequently attempted. The earliest crop bulletins of which a record has been found are those for 1878, April 1, July 1, and Oct. 1, resp. These three bulletins are reprinted in the second rept. of the bureau of agric., hortic. and statistics, 1879, pp. 253-265. It is believed that these bulletins are the first crop bulletins printed in Kentucky, and that, in all probability, they continued regularly to be published. The Library of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has a few bulletins of the eighties and early nineties, and a continuous file from March 1, 1898, to the close of the period of this index, viz., Dec., 1904. These latter are 2, 3 and 4 page leaflets, containing a narrative report on the condition of crops and livestock at the time of the date of the bulletin, usually the first of the month.

Opinion of committee that much injury results to community from unnecessary expansions and contractions of circulation and business of banks; inquiries made for purpose of testing their business at close of each mo., and ascertaining whether preparation had been made for the investigation of the committee by reducing the business and circulation, or whether it had been reduced from any other cause. ——. Should banks of Ky. be forced to resume specie payments before banks in eastern cities resume, it would create great embarrassment and depression in price of property, and state will suffer in her revenue therefrom, and in her interest in the banks, by loss of debts and loss of dividends; Ky. banks should resume payment, pari passu, with banks of eastern cities and not before. Sec. 21 of the Act of 1820, establishing the Bank of the Commonwealth, provided for one branch and no more in each judicial district existing at the end of the then present session of the General Assembly, excluding the judicial district in which the principal bank was located. There were at the time 12 judicial districts in Ky. The branch banks located under the act were as follows: 1st distr. at Flemingsburg; 2d distr. at Falmouth; 3d distr. at Lexington; 4th distr. none; 5th distr. at Louisville; 6th distr. at Hartford; 7th distr. at Princeton; 8th distr. at Greensburgh; 9th distr. at Harrodsburgh; 10th distr. at Winchester; 11th distr. at Mountsterling; 12th distr. at Somerset. An act of Dec. 1, 1821, to increase and regulate the judicial districts, added the 13th, 14th, and 15th districts. By 1822 it seems to have become the custom to call the branch banks by their place names.

1818. Govs. attitude toward national banks hostile; corporate powers and privileges conferred on them considered as so much power taken from people; legisl. should be filled with people representing agric. class and not monied institutions. (Govs. mess. 1818.)

1819. Attention called to 2 offices of discount and deposit, located by Bank of U. S. within Ky.; believed that these institutions have contributed largely to produce embarrassments experienced by many of Ky.'s citizens, by cashing the paper of the state bank and its branches, thereby restraining them from that freedom of banking operations, which their capital and credit justified, and commercial transactions of the country required; revenue of state considerably reduced by those offices; state should assert its right rel. to control of said institutions; in govs. opinion, the existence of Bank of U. S. is incompatible with republican civil liberties. (Same Dec. 1819.)

CLIMATE

Kentucky has never supported a state weather service. In 1888 the U. S. Signal Service organized a service in Ky. Before that time, the State Polytechnic Society had collected meteorological data and had published a weather bulletin at its own expense. In 1890, upon its application to the state legislature for an appropriation having been refused, the Society discontinued the publication of its bulletin. The Society continued, however, to direct for a time, the organization in Kentucky, of the U. S. Signal Service station. The Ky. returns first appeared in the federal reports in 1888 (ann. rept. U. S. Signal Service). In 1889 returns began to appear in the Monthly Weather Review. From 1888 to 1891 the Ky. climate and crop service was under the control of the Signal Service, U. S. War Department; in 1891 it was transferred to the U. S. Weather Bureau, Dept. of Agriculture.

KENTUCKY

For material concerning the replevin and relief law controversy of 1823-1825, see Administration of Justice. Courts. Court of Appeals. It seemed more expedient as well as more useful to concentrate all this material, since the point in question was chiefly that of legislative and judiciary jurisdiction, and to refer from the incidental subjects.

In preceding indexes of this series it has been possible to make a more decided distinction between the actual debt material and that relating to the sinking fund, than has been the case in Ky. To avoid confusion, it has semed most expedient, in the present case, to combine these materials and to leave under sinking fund only that which relates to the actual income and outgo of the fund itself. As the resulting material under Debt is of considerable quantity and somewhat complex, the compiler has employed the device of guidewords, as leaders to particular phases of the Debt. It will be noted that, throughout the main chronological arrangement under Debt, certain first words, as Interest, Bonds, etc., recur. By following any one of these words, the reader is, in a general way, guided to certain specific debt material.

RESOURCES
The items which contributed to the revenue of the sinking fund, by law, were many and varied. A list of them is subjoined. According to the scheme of the series of indexes of which the present is but one, these various items of revenue are classified under their resp. headings, viz., tax on banks, under Taxation, etc. regardless of the objects to which this revenue is applied by the state. In Kentucky, however, these various revenues being for some 30 years a charge only upon the accounts of the comrs. of the sinking fund, and appearing in the printed returns only as a part of the general income and expense stmt., they would, following the ordinary routine of these indexes, not appear specifically under their various headings at all. Later, when the accts. were made a charge upon the books of the auditor and treasurer as well, the printed annual returns still fail to specify the individual sources of revenue in such form that the customary index references could be made. In order to preserve the unity of the sinking fund an enumeration of its several items of revenue is subjoined. This is followed by a schedule showing where in the index such material as was found relating to any special item, has been collated.

schools and seminaries of learning, ed. 2. Lexington, J. G. Norwood, 1830. 52 pp.

The 1st edition of this report was not found. The rept. of this committee of the same year, printed in the House jol. 1829/30, is undoubtedly the same report. The separate edition of the rept. and the House jol. were, however, not in the compiler's hands at the same time, so that actual comparison was not possible. It would appear, though, that the House jol. contained only the rept. of the committee, omitting the correspondence of the Rev. Benj. O. Peers, who was requested to lay such information before the legislature as would aid in selecting and adopting for Ky. the best system of public schools.

The chronological division employed in the following groups has been made with the idea of bringing out the main distinguishing features in the history of the school fund. The early period is that of special legislation, the second period that of conflict with the sinking fund commissioners owing to the diversion by the latter, of part of the surplus revenue received from Congress; the third period represents the history of the school fund as governed by the organic law of the Commonwealth.
School Fund (first period)
During these years a school fund, as such, did not exist. Provision had been made for the maintenance of schools by means of land grants and from the profits arising from the Bank of the Commonwealth resp. For the former provision two acts had been passed, viz., Feb. 10, 1798, "Act for the endowment of certain seminaries of learning, and for other purposes," and Dec. 21, 1805, providing "that the several county courts of counties in which Academies have not been established, or for the benefit of which no apprn. of land has been made, shall be, and are hereby, authorized to have located, surveyed, and patented, of any vacant lands in this Commonwealth, 6000 acres, for the use of such school as may be hereafter established within either of said counties, under the like rules and regulations as are prescribed by the act approved Feb. 10, 1798."
Under the act of 1798 county courts of a number of counties had been enabled to locate each 6000 acres of vacant land, for the establishment and support of a County Academy, title thereto being vested in the Trustees of the Academy resp. All these lands were exempt from taxation as long as they should be held and used for school purposes. Thirty thousand acres were donated to common schools under this act. Subsequently to the passage of the act of 1798 and before the passage of the act of 1805, 114,000 acres were donated to other seminaries. The results of these donations seem to have been inappreciable. In the words of the supt. of public instruction (ann. rept. 1859: 9). "In a few instances, from the scarcity of good lands, no profitable locations were ever made; but in most others, through the negligence of Trustees, and the arts of speculators, nearly the whole original endowment was sunk, and with it, for many years, the success of anything like a common school system." The supt. of public instruction in 1871 (ann. rept. 1870/1: 100-101) is more severely condemnatory in his comment on the breakdown of these early provisions.

A later attempt to secure a foundation for the common school system was inaugurated by the act of Dec. 18, 1821, "Act to establish a Literary Fund, and for other purposes." This act provided that one-half of the clear profits arising from the operations of the Bank of the Commonwealth be set apart as a fund to be known as the Literary Fund, for the establishment of a system of general education to be distributed in just proportion to all the counties of the state. The act further provided that one-half the clear profits arising from the branch banks at Lexington, Danville, and Bowling Green be donated resp. to Transylvania University, Centre College, and the Southern College of Ky.

1835. Suggestion for establishment of specific fund to meet all collateral disbursements; such fund indispensable for enlargement of system of internal improvement, and diffusion of common facilities of education, etc. (Govs. mess. Jan. 1835.)

School Fund (second period)

1837-1849

The third attempt to support a school system in Ky. was the acceptance by Ky. of her share of the surplus revenue distributed by Congress under act of June 23, 1836, to the states "for purposes of education." Kentucky's share amounted to $1,433,757. Almost immediately the legislature enacted measures which resulted in the partition of this fund. Embarked in a costly system of internal improvements the state had exhausted her treasury and in order to preserve her credit drew again and again upon the resources of the school fund. Less than a year after the distribution of the surplus revenue, viz., on Feb. 23, 1837, Ky. passed an act to invest in profitable stocks the surplus revenue of the U. S. This act dedicated only one million of the amt. received for the intended object, popular education. Under an act of Feb. 16, 1838, the fund was reduced from $1,000,000 to $850,000. For this latter sum bonds were caused to be issued to the Board of Education, a corporation created by act of the General Assembly. Two years later, in 1840, a deficit occurring in the amount necessary to pay the interest on the state's internal improvement bonds, the commissioners of the sinking fund suspended the payment of the interest upon the bonds held by the Board of Education. From this time dates the conflict between the Board of Education and the Commissioners of the sinking fund, which was only quieted by the issue, in 1848, of a new bond for all arrears of interest due the school fund. A sketch of the conflict from 1840 to 1848 is given in the rept. of the supt. of public instruction for 1859: 14-16.

School Fund (third period)
1850 [-1904]
Under Constitutions of 1850 and 1891
Article 11 of the constitution of 1850 provided that the "Common School Fund," then consisting of $1,350,491, together with any sum which might be raised by taxation, for purposes of education, be held inviolable for purpose of sustaining a system of common schools. The constitution of 1891 continued the provisions keeping the school fund inviolable, and added to the previous fund the direct tax fund which had been returned to the State by act of Congress of March 2, 1891.

A new state bond, bearing 6 per cent interest, was issued for this amount on March 2, 1892.

The last event of importance that threatened to imperil a successful establishment of common schools in Ky. occurred during the session of 1850-1851. This was the decision of the question "whether or not the common school fund should be deemed a part of the state debt, the interest of which was payable out of the resources of the sinking fund." A bill directing such payment was passed over the Governor's veto, on March 1, 1850, after long and lively debate.

The occasion of this message from Gov. Helm, was the controversy that had arisen over the construction of sec. 34, art. 2 and sec. 1, art 11 of the constitution of 1850, relative to the state debt. The Executive maintained that the words "state debt" signified only those debts due to individuals and corporations for the payment of the principal of which the state is held bound. The committee on the sinking fund maintained that the school fund was embraced in the term "state debt."

The message reviews the origin of the sinking fund and the school fund resp., and makes numerous quotations from preceding messages, etc., to prove the contention that while the payment of interest on the school fund had been recognized as a duty rather than a debt, it had never been contemplated that the principal should be paid.

Schools for the colored population of the state were first provided by the act of Feb. 14, 1866, which appropriated for their schools all the taxes paid by the race in the state except enough to support their paupers. By an act of March 9, 1867, a poll tax for school purposes was laid on all males of the race over 18 years of age. By an act of Feb. 13, 1874, all fines and forfeitures paid by the race were added to their school fund and all moneys from the sale of public lands set apart by the United States until the per capita of the race should equal that of the whites. By act of April 24, 1882, the per capita for white and colored schools was equalized.

The form of this stmt. varies in minor details. Until 1861 stmt. shows receipts from tax on capital stock of banks and dividends from banks, and expenditures, by counties, in form of warrants drawn by supt. of public instruction on auditor. In 1861, under act of March 2, 1860, there was added the revenue from forfeitures in actions for recovery of money lost at gaming. In 1866 there was added the revenue from the dog tax under act of Jan. 31, 1865, "act for the protection of sheep." In 1871 there was added the revenue derived from a tax on billiards and in 1881 the revenue from a tax on cards. With the passage of the Hewitt Law, i. e., the revenue law approved May 17, 1886, the sources of revenue of the school fund were altered. The revenue from bonds, interest and dividends remained as before and constituted the school fund proper. Under the Hewitt law all other revenue was fixed at ⅘ of all taxes from sheriffs (proceeds of the 22 cent ad valorem tax), on railroads, banks, and some other corporations, on distilled spirits, on lotteries, from licenses, fines, and forfeitures. Beginning with 1887 the foregoing stmt. shows only the aggregate expenditures of the school fund, by counties, and contingent expenses, and aggregate receipts and disbursements, by months. The classified stmt. of receipts is henceforth published in the rept. of the supt. of public instruction. The monthly stmt. of receipts and expenditures of the school fund had been a feature of the auditor's report since 1860/1; see below, under dates 1860/1-1903/5.

SURPLUS BOND FUND
This fund had its origin in the constitution of 1850 (art. 11, sec. 1) which directs that "The General Assembly shall make provision by law, for the payment of the interest of said school fund: Provided that each county shall be entitled to its proportion of the income of said fund, and if not called for, for common school purposes, it shall be reinvested from time to time, for the benefit of such county." Accordingly an act was passed (Rev. Stats. (1852) ch. 88) which provided that the auditor should apportion, each year, the revenue from the school fund among the several counties of the state, according to the number of free white children in each, between the ages of 6 and 18 yrs., as shown by the returns of the assessors in his office, or the reports of the school comrs. to the supt. of public instruction, whichever were the greater in each county. If the number of children reported by the school comrs. exceeded that reported by the assessors a distribution was made in accordance with the rept. of the comrs. If, however, by reason of the failure of certain districts to make reports at the time required by law, the number of children reported by the assessors was the greater, an allowance was made, based upon the rept. of the comrs., and a bond, proportioned to the excess of children embraced in the assessor's rept., and bearing interest at rate of 6 per cent per ann., was executed to the county.
1851. Recommendation for law to carry out clause of constitution that provides that each co. shall be entitled to its share of school fund, and if not called for, for school purposes shall be re-invested for benefit of such co. (Govs. mess. 1851.)

Tax Revenues
Three general ad valorem tax acts, increasing the revenue of the school fund, were passed during this period, viz., act of March 7, 1854 (82,765 vs. 25,239) raising 3 cents on every $100 worth of taxable property; act of Jan. 22, 1869 (78,208 vs. 54,275), raising 15 cents on every $100 worth of taxable property; and act of April 24, 1882, raising an additional 2 cents. The amount thus raised by taxation for school purposes is now 22 cents on every $100 of taxable property. In addition to the ad valorem tax the school fund derives revenue from fines, forfeitures, licenses, tax on railroads and corporations in the proportion which the amount of taxes for common school purposes bears to the whole state tax other than for the benefit of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. See note above, under Receipts and Expenditures.

Under Act of Feb. 16, 1838. By this act "the old trustee system was abolished and the institution was put under the temporary management of five trustees appointed by the Governor of the State. On Feb. 20, 1839, the governing power of the university was vested in a board of eight trustees, two of whom were to be appointed by the Transylvania Institute, three by the city of Lexington, and three by the State Legislature—a system of control which was in the main to be retained throughout the remaining history of the institution, and which gave to its trustees, now largely local, power to manage it themselves or to transfer its management to other parties, as we shall soon see them doing." Under denominational control. On Sept. 21, 1841, the trustees transferred the control of Transylvania University to the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States. The professional departments still remained on their former basis, the new arrangement applying only to the academic department, the direct management of which was to be vested in a board of nine curators, to be appointed by the general conference. In May, 1846, the control of the university passed into the hands of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. In 1850 the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South turned over the management of the university to its two conferences in Kentucky, and they not deeming its possession of advantage to themselves, turned it over to the trustees, so that the institution fell back to the plan of control established for it in 1839. This act and another passed on June 27, 1792 and Dec. 20, 1794, resp., is the basis of an act passed Feb. 6, 1798, entitled "An Act to reduce into one the several acts concerning the auditor and treasurer." The acts of June 22 and 27, 1792, make no mention of a report. The act of Dec. 20, 1794, requires the auditor to report to the General Assembly on the 6th day of each stated annual session, a general statement showing the total amount of every species of taxes which remains due since the establishment of the Commonwealth, distinguishing the amount of arrearages for each year and a statement of the amount of warrants issued to each department the preceding year. No printed reports were found by the compiler earlier than that of 1803/4, although it appears that reports were regularly received by the General Assembly. (See House Journal 1795, p. 65.)

These years covered the administration of the first treasurer of Ky., Col. John Logan. Col. TREASURER'S ACCOUNTS

A committee to examine the treasurer's accounts was appointed annually by the General Assembly under Act of June 27, 1792. The act required the committee "to examine the treasury and to make a fair stmt. of all moneys recd. and paid out of the treasury and for what purposes paid and the amt. of money which shall be in hand and report the same to the General Assembly who shall cause same to be published."

" " House " 1795: 61-63.
It is probable that this is not the annual committee to be apptd. under the Act quoted above, but that it is a special committee. The report, it will be noted is more lengthy than is usual at this time, and is submitted as from the "jt. committee apptd. to examine the auditor's, treasurer's, and register's accts." The accts. in the body of the rept. are in English currency; they are itemized, but not classified.

SECOND AUDITOR'S REPORTS

The office of second auditor was created by an act approved Feb. 23, 1839, to continue in force for two years. On Jan. 4, 1841, that act was continued for two years after the termination of the then pending session of the Legislature, and on Feb. 23, 1843, the office was made permanent. Under the constitution of 1850 the office was merged with that of auditor.

Auditor's Office

AGENT OF THE AUDITOR

The agent was appointed by the auditor originally under act of Feb. 28, 1862. His duty was to hunt up unassessed property, which had been overlooked by the assessor and the sheriff, to collect delinquent taxes, look after delinquent officers, etc. In 1874 the auditor's agent was dispensed with and his duties were imposed upon the county attorneys. The Court of Appeals decided that this arrangement was unconstitutional. In 1880 an act was passed (ch. 1312 Acts 1880) providing for an auditor's agent. For reports of these officers, see Taxation: State.

The office was abolished in 1898 and the duties of the office were conferred on the auditor. The reports of the register seem never to have been published with any regularity, and those listed below are all of which any record was found.

Headright Lands

Relative to the Headright Lands Littell says: "By 1795 a number of persons had settled themselves on vacant land south of the Green River, under a belief that these lands were no longer liable to be taken by military warrants, and that the legislature would grant them settlements therefor on paying a moderate price for the same." Accordingly the "Act for the relief of settlers on the South Side of the Green River," was passed on Dec. 21, 1795. Of this act Littell (4: 349) says, "This act is the stock of an interesting branch of our statute law." Following this stmt. he gives citations to various acts affecting these lands.

The Tellico lands referred to below, are probably lands acquired by cession from the Cherokees under the treaty concluded at Tellico on Oct. 21, 1798 (2 Stat. 62). The first act appropriating lands acquired by this treaty, was passed on Jan. 31, 1810. Surveys were forbidden to be made on the Tellico lands under authority of Va. land warrants by an act passed Jan. 25, 1811. Acts of Jan. 31 (2 acts) and Feb. 8, 1812, are amendatory. By an act of Jan. 31, 1812, the money paid into the treasury for these lands was directed to be applied as bank stock.

1823-1888. Rept. of jt. committee apptd. to examine into condition of Asylum for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb at Danville.

It will be noted that these reports are intermittent. It seemed to be more useful to group them together as a serial, although, strictly speaking, their irregular appearance and the fact that this committee was not a standing committee would not, ordinarily, warrant a serial classification.

See also below, Receipts and Expenditures.

By act of April 5, 1826 (6 Stats., p. 339), there was granted to the Deaf and Dumb Asylum of Ky. one township of land, excepting the sixteenth section, for the education of indigent deaf and dumb persons, with authority to sell said lands within 5 yrs., to be located in one of the territories, on lands to which the Indian title had been extinguished. By the act of Jan. 29, 1827 (4 Stats., p. 202) the location of so much of the grant as had been located on lands previously taken by claims of pre-emptors in the Territory of Florida was extended to unappropriated and unreserved lands in either of the Territories of Florida or Arkansas. By the act of March 3, 1843, the trustees of Centre College of Ky. were invested with all the rights of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum of Ky. in the grant provided that the proceeds of the sale of the lands were not diverted from the purposes and intention of the original grant. By the acts of April 11, 1836, July 20, 1840, April 14, 1842 (6 Stats., pp. 629, 810, 828), Feb. 18, 1847 (9 Stats., p. 684), March 11, 1852 (10 Stats., p. 726), and Feb. 7, 1857 (11 Stats., p. 496), the time within which the lands were to be sold by the original grant, was extended to 1862, excepting that portion located in Arkansas, which was limited to two years from April 5, 1842. The lands located and patented under the grant amounted to 22,508.65 acres, of which 20,411.22 were situated in Florida, and 2,097.43 in Arkansas.

Under the constitution of 1849, the Legislature of 1851/2 passed a long act relating to the penitentiary. The report of 1851/3 was made under this act, and it was the last report made by the then incumbent. His successor, elected by the Legislature of 1853/4, did not enter upon the duties of his office until March, 1855. These facts account for the interrupted continuity in the annual reports of the Penitentiary.

1858 no report was made.
A change in the administration occurred in 1859. Under the law, the keepers were elected by the Legislature to serve for four years. The sessions of the Legislature at this time being biennial in the odd years, it fell to the Legislature of 1857/8 to elect the keeper to serve from 1859. The keeper who made the report of 1856/7 failed of re-election and it is probable that this was the reason of the failure to make a report for 1858.

1874. On forest resources of Western Ky.; good transportation facilities give this distr. peculiar advantages as a place for ship-bldg. industry. (Rept. on progress of geol. survey 1874/5: 22.)

1875. Hard-wood timbers of Western Ky. more immediate and satisfactory source of wealth than its coal or iron: less capital necessary to develop an industry in hard-wood, and competition less considerable, and from the variety of industry it brings in its train, and the class of population it attracts, these industries in wood superior to all forms of mnfg. (Ky. geol. survey n. s. v. 1, pt. 2: 4-5.)

——. Economic value of hard-woods of Western Ky. heretofore greatly overlooked; finest hard-wood forests known in any country, lie betw. L. & N. R.R. and Mississippi River; this probably the only region on this continent where as large a mass of timber useful in the arts, and contiguous to transportation, can be found. Suggestion for opening up direct trade in hardwood with Europe; arrangement similar to that existing in shipment of sugar boxes from Maine to Cuba, could be used in shipping wine-cask staves to France and other places, and thereby do away with the half dozen profits now paid on same. (Same n. s. v. 1, pt. 2: 3.)

——. Ample stores of oak and other ship timbers along Green River, suggests possibility of successfully developing ship-bldg. industry here; advantages of this distr. over Atlantic seaboard. (Same n. s. v. 1 pt. 2: 4.)

[pt. ?.] pp. [147]-218. Geol. survey of Ky. N. S. Shaler, director. Culture of flax and hemp. Pt. 2 of Rept. on the history, culture, and mnftre. of flax and hemp; by J. R. Procter. 99-172 pp., 2 illus., 2 pl.
In this preface of this monograph it is stated that "As the representative of Ky. at the International Exhibition at Philadelphia in 1876, I made a study of such exhibits as would most advance the best interests of the Commonwealth, by bringing to the notice of its citizens the results of the observations. Among other subjects I gave attention to flax and hemp, with a view to the encouragement of the culture and manufacture of those fibres in Ky., embodying the results of my study in a report on the 'History, Culture and Manufacture of Flax and Hemp.' The present price of those fibres, and the large prospective future demand, has elicited so much inquiry from the agriculturists throughout the state, and has induced His Excellency, the Governor of Ky., to order the publication of part 2, devoted to the culture of flax and hemp, in advance of the publication of the entire work."

pt. 3. pp. 251-290. Rept. on coal washing for the separation of coal from its impurities; by P. N. Moore. 40 pp.

——. Same. (12 same 1890/1: 75.)
1880. Just and unjust discriminations in tariff rates; opinion of minority comn. (1 same 1880: 38-39.)
——. Special rates; all shippers from same locality or station, shipping in like quantities, should be placed upon an exact equality; r.r. co. agreeing to furnish special rates to a mnftrer., miner, or farmer, should furnish like special rates to all similar classes shipping from same point, and publishing of such special rates should be required by law; opinion of minority comn. (1 same 1880: 37-38.)
——. Act requiring freight rates to be posted; comments on enforcement of law. (1 same 1880: 5.)
——. Rebates and drawbacks; establishment of a system allowing rebates and drawbacks, when such is not made public, is violation of law; opinion of minority comn. (1 same 1880: 36-37.)
——. Basis of fixing r.r. tariffs suggested in majority rept., are, in opinion of minority comn., wholly impracticable, and if adopted would defeat end in view; a better and wiser principle suggested. (1 same 1880: 40-42.)
——. On willingness of r.r. officers to abate their freight tariff when shown to be too high, and their having done so, in many instances, as well as their adopting a reduced maximum passenger rate. (1 same 1880: 35.)
——. Complaints of the people agst. excessive and discriminating rates of freight; action of comn. (1 same 1880: 28.)

1880. Discriminations in freight; remarks on evils of, by r.r. cos. of Ky. (1 same 1880: 22-23.)
——. Vested rights; general act of 1856; maximum charter rates; the remedy; what are reasonable rates? (1 same 1880: 25-27.)
1881. On posting of freight schedules; necessary to prescribe maximum rates, and affix to violation of them penalties sufficiently heavy to prevent violation. (2 same 1880/1: 29.)
——. On difficulty of enforcing freight law; individuals afraid to publicly rept. discriminations for fear their rates will be raised; instances of drawbacks. (2 same 1880/1: 28-29.)
——. Two cos. control ¾ of r.r. mileage of state; only mode of relief from their excessive charges, lies in hands of present legisl. (2 same 1880/1: 111.)
——. Excessive and unjust transportation rates on r.rs. of state should be provided agst. by enactments which will reduce them to a normal and just standard, doing neither r.rs. nor the people injustice. (2 same 1880/1: 44.)
——. Act to prevent unlawful charges for transportation of freight by r.r. cos., approved May, 1880; notice made by Courier-Journal, the law, and construction of it by comn.; remarks rel. to evasion of law by cos. of state. (2 same 1880/1: 26-29.)
——. Competition of r.rs. of Ky. not adequate to bring cheap transportation, because of disproportion competitive points bear to carrying traffic to all points on r.rs. in Ky. (2 same 1880/1: 24-26.)
——. For legisl. of state to undertake directly, or through a comn., to enforce a classification of rates for the different roads, or to exercise any powers over them which would be antagonistic to, or violative of, the charters, would, in opinion of minority of comn., be to invite costly and unprofitable litigation, damaging to the state and her people, while further tending to revive unfriendly relations betw. the r.rs. and the people, now on the wane. (2 same 1880/1: 234.)
——. Maximum charter rates; right to regulate tolls on r.rs. cannot be surrendered by legisl.; corporate rights in England; corporate rights and the Ky. Court of Appeals. (2 same 1880/1: 149-152.)
——. Maximum charter rates granted to r.rs. 40 yrs. ago, as reasonable and just at that time, are not reasonable and just 40 yrs. later; same principle upon which legisl. acted in vesting that right in franchise for charging tolls, would compel legisl. 40 yrs. later to alter or amend it. (2 same 1880/1: 149.)
——. Coal; increase in production of, in Ky. during yr.; rates of transportation charged by r.rs. of state. (2 same 1880/1: 220-221.)
——. The Ky. r.r. problem, as to whether r.r. cos. operating roads in Ky. under charters granted prior to act of 1856, shall be subjected to legislative action to compel them to carry freight and passengers at rates reasonable and just, with due regard to both the public and the r.rs.; in opinion of comn. they should. (2 same 1880/1: 148-149.)
——. The cheap coal question; one instance cited where reduction of freight rates was hindered by combination of certain mine owners; their conflict with Lexington and Big Sandy R.R., in which r.r. was on side of the people. (2 same 1880/1: 232.)
——. Freight transportation; gradual reduction in rates on heavy articles, notable since 1878 on all roads; L. and N. R.R. and branches reduced rate on coal 25%; unjust and impracticable to ask of different roads a sweeping and uniform reduction upon all articles; reduction asked only on heavy articles; competition betw. some of the roads with water carriage; instance of reduction of freight rates being hindered by combination formed by shippers. (2 same 1880/1: 231-232.)
1881. Classification of r.rs.; in opinion of comn., if legisl. pass act regulating rates on r.rs., and provides classification to that end, to make it of practical effect, it must, at same time, provide for a comn. or some other power to adapt them to condition, change and circumstances, which take place from various causes; general comments on; "Ill. r.r. comrs.' new tariff," or schedule of maximum rates given to be compared with charges for transportation in Ky. and elsewhere. (2 same 1880/1: 77-80.)
——. Classification of freights; rept.; standards of rates and classification adopted by Ga. r.r. comn., considered as better adapted to be applied to r.rs. in Ky. than any other known to Ky. comn., and better than any it can produce; this classification, etc., given in full, and if power to regulate charges for transportation be vested in r.r. comn., this classification and standard the one they would adopt. (2 same 1880/1: 45-77.)
——. Suggested that all r.r. charters giving wide margin for invading public rights by unjust and unreasonable charges for transportation of freight and passengers, be so amended by "general law" as to preclude possibility of it. (2 same 1880/1: 40.)
——. Freights; remarks on good results of reductions made in freights by r.rs. of state; stmt. of gross earnings of L. and N. R.R. for 6 mos. preceding Nov. 1, 1880, and corresp. 6 mos. of 1881. (2 same 1880/1: 218-219.)
——. Rept. of rates; copy of official letter of r.r. comn. to r.r. cos. in Ky., issued Dec. 21, 1880, requiring complete rept. of all freight rates made and charged during 30 days next preceding date of circular, at variance with rates furnished said comn.; copies of letters recd. in answer to same from Ky. Central R.R. Co., Cincinnati Southern R.R. Co., Mobile and Ohio R.R., Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans R.R. Co., and Louisville and Nashville R.R. Co. (2 same 1880/1: 34-38.)
——. Classification of freights; comn. in doubt as to whether it can devise system of classification, and recommend its adoption by legisl. as a fixed and determinate classification to be adhered to by r.r. cos. of state during intervals betw. mtgs. of legisl., without delegating to r.r. comn., or to some other person or persons, at the same time, the power, upon careful examination of all surrounding circumstances, to modify, alter and adapt it, as occasion may absolutely demand, to conditions and circumstances which are extraordinary and may arise during such intervals betw. mtgs. of legisl. (1 same 1880: 24-25.)
——. Another circular letter on freight reductions; copy of, requesting roads to make maximum reduction of 20% on all freight rates; to reduce passenger rates to maximum rate of 3 cents per mile, and to give 30 days' notice to public before making any change in freight rates; only one road, the Louisville and Nashville R.R., notified comn. of any reductions; reduction on this road greater than asked for by comn.; increase in their receipts despite unprecedented drought. Frankfort and Lexington Railroad

1836. By act of Feb. 29, the dividends on 1500 shares of stock in Frankfort and Lexington R.R. were made one of the revenues of the sinking fund.

1843. Bd. authorized to repair Lexington and Ohio R.R. on condition that cost thereof shall not exceed $100,000; Gov. not to be required to issue bonds for repair of said road until he shall receive proposals for lease thereof. (A.R. bd. internal improvement 1842/3: 478.)†

1845. R.R. from Frankfort to Lexington so connected with Ky. River navigation as to form one continuous line of improvement, destruction of any link in which would very nearly be destructive to whole line; importance of upholding r.r. and river about the same. (Same 1845: 558.)†

——. R.R. from Frankfort to Lexington; by time present r.r. lease expires condition will be such as to render r.r. nearly if not entirely useless; recommendation for examination and survey of proposed new location of r.r. (Same 1845: 558.)†

1846. Bd. submits for consideration of legisl., whether proper steps should not at once be taken for securing the permanent location and perpetuating the Frankfort and Lexington R.R., and for connecting it directly with the river navigation; loss of r.r. to navigation, or latter to former, would be alike destructive to best interests of either, and still more disastrous to state, especially to the contiguous community. (Same 1846: 488-489.)*

——. Frankfort and Lexington R.R. betw. Frankfort and Lexington, the principal fork, if not main continuous line of business to be done upon Kentucky River, leased out for term of yrs. by act of legisl.; that co., or some of its members, are understood to be owners, or part owners, of two boats regularly running on river; other and transient boats running betw. Frankfort and Louisville receive but little freight from r.r.; but this road operates as a great feeder to boats owned in part by lessees; with this certain supply of freight, and most of the r.r. passengers, these boats will soon have monopoly of the river trade, very detrimental to interests of state, because of its disguise, for which no equivalent is paid to her; lessees of r.r. deserve support of public, within such sphere of action as will not be detrimental to best interests of state. (Same 1846: 477-478.)*

——. That part of Frankfort and Lexington R.R. from top of hill to public wharf and public warehouse long since abandoned by lessees of r.r., owing, it is said, to steepness of r.r. track upon the inclined plane above Frankfort; this fact interposes another obstacle to fair and equal competition, and of course to successful mngmt. of the Kentucky River navigation; the whole of the business being turned from the public to a private wharf and private warehouses, owners of which charge such wharfage and storage as they may think proper; appeal of mngrs. of Frankfort, Lexington and Versailles Turnpike, for some redress for abandonment of part of r.r. by lessees, by being allowed to erect toll gate on part of their road used by said r.r. for drayage, etc. (Same 1846: 478.)*

1843. At outset of legislation in favor of system of river navigation, legisl. was led to believe that amt. of capital required to accomplish work would yield revenue sufficient not only to make necessary repairs and pay ann. interest upon investment, but it would in time liquidate and pay off principal; this idea founded upon data most erroneous and delusive. ——. Suggestion made that iron gates could be manufactured and prepared for works on Green and Barren rivers at small increased cost over wooden gates now in use; this worthy of serious consideration, iron gates when once prepared and in use would last for ages—wooden gates such as are now in use soon have to be replaced. (Same 1842/3: 489.)*

1836. Probable medium volume of water in Ky. ——. Communication from pres. of bd. of internal improvement on removal of steamboat New Argo, sunk in Ky. River Feb. 17. (Same 1841/2: 490.)

1843. Ky. River navigation; if works had been finished without applying proceeds of navigation to that purpose, much greater portion of amt. collected during yr. would have been net revenue for benefit of sinking fund. (A.R. bd. of internal improvement 1842/3: 474.)*

——. Rept. of bd. of internal improvement in obedience to House res. of Jan. 23, 1843, and in continuation of their ann. rept., 1842, giving estimates of work done upon Ky. River navigation, with comments thereon. (Docs. 1842/3: 329-379.)

1845. Only serious impediments to navigation from head of pool no. 5 on Ky. River, to cities of Louisville or Cincinnati occur in Ohio, above and below mouth of Ky. (A.R. bd. of internal improvement 1845: 545.)*

——. Freshets in early part of season in some instances enabled steamers to pass over some of dams on Ky. River without calling upon lock keepers; it was maintained that abatement of charges should be made accordingly; reasons of bd. for declining to make abatements. (Same 1845: 551-552.)*

1846. Difficulties encountered by Ky. River navigation during past seasons, such as cannot be overcome under existing arrangements; navigation but illy suited to any other than a particular class of boats adapted to the locks; sudden and unexpected disappearance of any one of that class, an impediment to success. (Same 1846: 485-486.)*

——. Interruption of navigation caused by leaky dam and Clay Lick bar; latter removed; former being worked on, according to plan suggested by late civil engr., S. Welch. (Same 1846: 487-488.)*

——. But for belief that the rivers of state, when made navigable, would yield a net revenue not only sufficient to meet ann. accruing interest on the investment, but also, in due season, to discharge principle itself, apprns. for this object would never have been made, and state at large would not have become endorser for either principal or interest; up to this time, navigation of Ky. River has failed, upon an average, to pay ⅓ of its proportion of interest; Green and Barren line having paid less than amt. ann. appropriated to repair and uphold works, excepting small amt. paid present yr. (Same 1846: 475.)*

1847. By making Ky. River navigation free or nearly so, contiguous section of country might enjoy temporarily and for season of short duration greater advantages than they now possess; result would be to blight all hope of hereafter extending works upward and probably rapid destruction of navigation itself. (Same 1847: 536.)*

1848. Good condition of Ky. River line of navigation; cost of work thus far, length of improvement. (Same 1848: 506.)*

——. Ky. River navigation; original scheme embraced 17 locks and dams, with continuous line of slackwater to Three Forks, 257 miles from mouth, estimated cost, average cost per lock and dam; only 5 locks and dams now complete forming slackwater for 95 miles. (Same 1848: 506.)*

1849. Extension of Ky. River navigation to Three Forks would make it best and cheapest and at same time one of most profitable public works in U. S.; coal, iron and salt now buried in mountains would, if properly developed and brought into market, in less than 15 yrs. repay state her entire public debt. (Same 1849: 519.)*

——. See also Railroads, this date.

1850. Rept. on removal of obstructions in Ky. River, particularly one existing at bridge at Frankfort. (House jol. reg. sess. 1849: 84.)

——. Ky. River navigation; long and unprecedented drought of yr. aided by evaporation and leakage of dams; so reduced volume of water as to stop navigation from Sept. 14 to Dec. 3; memory of man does not place water at lower, if so low, stage. (A.R. bd. of internal improvement 1850: 562.)*

1850-1867. Same; description of repairs. (Same 1850 (pp. 562-564)—same 1867.)*

No returns 1855, 1862, 1865.

1851. Same; low water produced from excessive drought and partial leakage of dams caused suspension of navigation from Sept. 12 to Dec. 31; no receipts in that time. (Same 1851: 738.)*

——. Same; line in better condition than it has been for five yrs., and expenditures of yr. much lighter than for many yrs. past. (Same 1851: 738.)*

——. Same; when Ohio River is high, backward current up Ky. to first dam causes great injury to dam; ann. expenditure here double or treble that at any other dam on river owing to defective manner of original construction. (Same 1851: 739.)*

——. Same; removal of obstructions from lock 1-5. (Same 1851: 740.)*

1853. Same; terminates at point on Ohio River nearly equi-distant from cities of Louisville and Covington, extends 112 miles into heart of Ky., passing through centre of capital of state. (Same 1853: 4.)

——. If bd. of internal improvement had power, it could, out of tolls upon Ky. and Green and Barren rivers, keep them in good repair, and in course of ten yrs. be able to pay for erection of another lock and dam upon each line of navigation which would carry head of slackwater some 30 miles further upon each river. (Same 1853: 6.)

——. If Ky. River and Green and Barren River navigation were extended, they would be best paying lines in America; counties from which state would receive increased revenue. (Same 1853: 6.)

1854. Excessive high water in spring causing destruction of many bridges, and washing away grade and literally removing metal lately deposited on many turnpike roads; also removed lower gates at lock no. 1 on Ky. River; delay in rebuilding gate. (Same 1854: 5-6.)

1855. Ky. River improvement; ann. repairs never completed at end of present fiscal yr.; little to do since covering of upper slopes of dam. (Same 1855: 4.)

——. Ky. River navigation; no state improvement now under way or that will be made in Ky., that would pay better if line were extended to coal, iron and salt regions; in no portion of Ky. more unerring indications of mineral wealth than in mountains near forks of Ky. River. (Same 1855: 13.)

——. Propriety of extending navigation on Ky. and Green and Barren rivers; salt, iron and lumber of Ky. mts. (Same 1855: 13.)

1857. Ky. River navigation, duty of state to expend requisite amt. to extend line to mts. and in addition to slackwatering Ky. to Three Forks, sum should be appropriated to improve downward navigation above Three Forks. (Same 1856/7: 8.)

——. Owing to uncertainty of navigation and risk and cost of same, owners of coal, iron and lumber in region above Three Forks realize no advantage and buyers as well as consumers have to look to other sources for supplies. (Same 1856/7: 8.)

——. Mountain counties in and around main tributaries of Ky. River can supply entire demand for salt, iron and coal and can furnish immense trade in lumber. (Same 1856/7: 8.)

——. Increase in value of real estate by extending navigation on Ky. River. (Same 1856/7: 8-9.)

1862. Ky. River; on acct. of long continued low water no navigation since June, receipts fallen short of previous yrs.; only such repairs made as would preserve works from damage. (Same 1862: 10.)

1848. Ky. River navigation; bd. fully satisfied that instead of 12 locks and dams as heretofore estimated to reach Three Forks, it can be done by 9; lift may be increased without endangering strength of dam; locks and dams can be built at less than ½ cost of those now on river and of equal power, strength and durability, average estimated cost of each, causes of diminution of future cost of work. (Same 1848: 507.)*

——. In any attempt to fix or modify rates of toll upon Ky. River, amt. of tolls charged upon turnpikes competing with river and r.r. must be considered; if turnpikes can, in disregard of law, reduce tolls to prices merely nominal, state will not only lose revenue due from road but also much larger sum, to which it is in all fairness entitled from river. WATER RENTS

1845. Difficulty of leasing water power on Ky. River results from fact that no funds have been placed at disposal of bd. to cut canals or otherwise prepare for use of water; cost of this preparation such as often to deter bidders from engaging in work. Scott and Co. for power to run two saw mills and two pair of stones at dam no. 4 for term of 30 yrs., co. to make canals, etc., at their own cost; estimated cost; amt. to be paid per annum for powers by lessees. 1838. Ky. derives no revenue from her turnpike roads and bridges; some radical defect in construction of these roads, or a disregard on part of mngrs. of existing laws on subject: other states derive revenue from these sources, where rates of toll are not higher than in Ky. (A.R. comrs. of sinking fund 1837/8: 110-111.)*

——. The turnpike roads; rept. on bd. by. (Same 1846: 483-485.)*

——. Rept. of auditor exhibiting ann. compensation of officers of each of turnpike road cos. of state with amt. of stock held by state and also by individuals and corporations. (House jol. 1845/6: 196-197.)

1847. Rept. of committee on judiciary on bill to amend act of Jan. 29, 1829, incorporating certain turnpike cos. (Sen. jol. 1846/7: 412-413.)

——. Rept. of bd. of internal improvement rel. to turnpike roads; proc. of mtg. of Turnpike Delegates, held at Frankfort, April 26, pursuant to act of March 1, 1847, to produce uniformity of tolls on roads. (Docs. 1847/8: 593-608.)

——. Wherever properly and judiciously located, turnpikes are of great value to country and indispensable in many sections of state; comparison of turnpikes and slackwater navigation; net revenue from Ky. River for yr. and from all stock of state in turnpikes. (A.R. bd. of internal improvement 1847: 535.)*

1848. Place originally intended by founders of system of internal improvement was for state to make great base line of roads and for people directly interested to aid in construction of small lateral feeders or intersections; had this plan been adhered to from beginning, road improvements would now be in condition far in advance of what they are. (Same 1848: 504.)*

——. Should legisl. refuse to make loan estimated and recommended for completion of unfinished roads and Ky. River navigation, bd. urges that net proceeds of that river be appropriated to building 9 more locks and dams and at same time cause macadamized roads to be made from interior to adjacent country, intersecting with river at important points, and that proceeds of Green and Barren rivers, over repairs, be appropriated to making of like roads, etc. (Same 1848: 507-508.)*

——. Cost to state of unfinished roads; they now yield but small sum to sinking fund; by aid of apprns. recommended they would yield average of 3% on entire cost, and if finished would yield at least 16% on sum asked in their behalf. (Same 1848: 505-506.)*

——. No. of miles of turnpikes attempted in state, no. of miles now finished and in use; sum paid by state toward construction of roads, dividends recd. by state up to Dec. 20. (Same 1848: 500.)*

——. Unfinished roads in which state has interest on acct. of stock subscribed and paid in. (Same 1848: 501-504.)*

——. No gravel or macadamized road fit for use until cemented firmly by continued travel; few persons can be induced to aid in making road and at same time be taxed therefor; hence in some portions of state small forests may be seen forcing their way through many of untraveled portions of macadamized roads. (Same 1848: 501.)*

1848. Need of macadamized roads to operate as feeders for Green and Barren River navigation; locks and dams should be continued on Green River in order to reach rich beds of coal and iron ore in Hart and Edmonson cos.; these roads, locks, etc., would multiply commercial resources of rivers, thereby greatly increasing power of sinking fund and infusing action in agric., commercial and mnfg. interests of that section of state, and would in few yrs. greatly overpay original outlay and quadruple value of adjacent real estate, thereby increasing strength of state treasury in way of revenue tax. (Same 1848: 506.)*

——. Greater portion of unfinished macadamized roads of state commenced on plan of double track, one of rock for winter and other of dirt for summer; had roads been constructed on grade 18 ft. wide instead of 30 and 50, as was done, many of them, with means furnished by state and individual subscriptions, if properly managed, would have been finished long since and now yielding handsome dividend. (Same 1848: 500-501.)*

1848-1849. Table showing turnpike roads in which state is interested as stockholder, their lengths, cost to state, dividends. (Same 1849: 531.)*

1849. Green and Barren River navigation—for more direct revenue recommended to extend improvement up Green River to Greensburg, connect towns with that line of navigation by good plank roads; entire cost of proposed improvement; increased value of real estate along lines of road more than sufficient to refund money. (Same 1849: 522.)*

——. Estimate of value of property, land, revenue, etc., in those cos. invited to trade of Green and Barren rivers by construction of plank roads. (Same 1849: 544.)*

——. No finished line of macadam road in state yields less than 3% and some as high as 7%. (Same 1849: 523.)*

1850. Suggestion to select such routes for plank roads as will be suitable for r.rs.; when first course of plank is worn out iron rails can be substituted if thought advisable by stockholders. (Same 1849: 545.)*

——. Estimated cost per mile of plank roads connecting towns lying within 30 or 40 miles of Green and Barren River navigation with that improvement. (Same 1849: 545.)*

——. Estimated cost of plank for one mile of road. (Same 1849: 545.)*

1851. No fair remuneration from roads so long as they remain incomplete; roads pass through some of most productive cos. of state, where from immense productions of soil, facilities for transportation are greatly needed. (Same 1851: 745.)*

——. Necessity to build roads and keep up rivers to have state maintain comparative importance with sister states; this must be done or farmers will be cut off from fair profits on productions sent to great markets of south and west. (Same 1851: 743.)*

——. Increase of values of real estate caused by roads; estimated that tolls collected upon public improvements comprise in main only ⅛ of real advantage which revenues of state derive from improvement. (Same 1851: 743.)*

——. Necessity for construction of turnpike roads in southern part of state, which has heretofore been entirely overlooked in apprns. (Same 1851: 746.)*

TOLL
1846. Stmt. of toll receipts from roads and rivers; comparisons made with previous yrs. (Govs. mess. 1846.)
Stock Owned by State; see Finance: State. Investments
Taxation; see Taxation: State. Corporations
Tolls
1827. If possible to avoid it, no power should be authorized to raise a revenue from the people but the govt. itself; better for people to pay tolls to incorporated cos., for good bridges and good roads, than not to have them; but it would be better still if these tolls could be paid into state treasury; Ky.'s urgent need of good roads; state capital could not be more safely vested than in making good roads on the principal routes. (Govs. mess. Dec. 1827.)
1842. Rept. of bd. of internal improvement exhibiting schedule of rates of toll which in their opinion ought to be charged upon turnpike roads of commonwealth. (House jol. 1841/2: 239-244; Sen. jol. 1841/2: 188-193.)
1843. Suggestion that hereafter no discrimination shall be made in rates of toll betw. broad and narrow tire wagons, or if any, in favor of latter; advantage which roads derived from passage of broad tread wagons ceased to exist as soon as they consolidated; now those wagons constructed strong in all parts proportionate to width of tire and with their immense freights produce damages by far incommensurate with small amt. of toll charged upon them. (A.R. bd. of internal improvement 1842/3: 482.)*
——. Comment on rates of toll charged on turnpike roads. (Same 1842/3: 480.)*
1845. Amt. of tolls charged upon different turnpikes differ exceedingly; plans of repairing differ in like manner, also amt. paid to officers in way of salaries and prices paid for labor. (Same 1845: 557.)*
——. Injustice done state by inequality of charges agst. mail stages, in direct violation of law having as one of its objects to ensure uniformity of tolls upon different turnpikes; cases where mail contractors never pay. (Same 1845: 557.)*
1846. Requisitions of act of 1842 fixing uniform rates of toll for all turnpike cos., not complied with by all cos.; especially in regard to charges upon mail stages; mail contractors entitled to no credit upon roads; generally believed that reduced fare to travelers on turnpikes will have greater tendency to increase revenue from that source than by any similar reduction to be made. (Same 1846: 484-485.)*
——. Other questions connected with question of fixing rates of toll; mngrs. of turnpike from Lexington to Maysville, acting in spirit of competition with r.r., have made material reduction of their tolls; reduction not authorized by law, but in direct violation of any law; serious loss sustained by state by this change; stmt. showing reduction upon larger class of wagons; legislative aid asked for by bd. to improve navigation interests of state. (Same 1846: 481-483.)*
1847. Rept. of bd. of internal improvement on subject of turnpike tolls with exhibits of rates on various roads. (Sen. jol. 1846/7: 271-277.)
——. Rept. of bd. of internal improvement on turnpike roads. (Docs. 1847/8: 593-608.)
On March 1, 1847, the Ky. legisl. passed an act to produce uniformity of tolls on turnpike roads. In compliance with the provisions of this act the bd. of internal improvement issued a circular to each turnpike co. inviting attendance of delegates to a convention at Frankfort on April 26. The document includes the rates of toll adopted at this convention, the schedule of tolls under act of Feb. 25, 1842, a list of roads showing length of road finished and unfinished, and text of letters from presidents of the Covington and Lexington Turnpike, the Logan, Todd and Christian Turnpike, and the Bardstown and Green River Road.
1848. Communication from pres. of bd. of internal improvement rel. to propriety of passing law appropriating tolls recd. on road from Elizabethtown to the Tenn. line, in direction of Nashville, to completion of said road. (Sen. jol. reg. sess. 1847: 158-159.)
1851. See above, general group, this date.
1862. Many complaints of want of justice in collection of tolls on turnpike roads; circular forwarded to managers by bd. of internal improvement asking certain information. (A.R. bd. of internal improvement 1862: 3-4.)
——. Recommendation of bd. to turnpike road cos. in which state has interest to accept from U. S. govt. for transportation of troops and army supplies ½ of tolls allowed by charters. (Same 1862: 4.)
——. Corresp. betw. chmn. of bd. of internal improvement and U. S. asst. q. m. gen. at Louisville rel. to payment of tolls due to turnpike roads; letter from U. S. q. m. gen. refusing to pay such claims. (Same 1862: 5.)
1889. General desire for abolition of toll-gates thus making travel free and unobstructed. (8 A.R. bureau of agric., hortic., and statistics 1889 pt. 3: 301.)
1898. When people cannot be found to enforce collection of turnpike tolls, recommendation that Gov. be empowered to place troops at gates with right to collect all tolls; cos. where troops are placed to bear expense of troops. (Govs. mess. 1898: 6.)

AGENT OF THE AUDITOR
Under Act of Feb. 28, 1862

The agent was appointed by the auditor originally under Act of Feb. 28, 1862. His duty was to hunt up unassessed property, which had been overlooked by the assessor and the sheriff, to collect delinquent taxes, look after delinquent officers, etc. In 1874 the auditor's agt. was dispensed with and his duties were imposed upon the county attorneys. The Court of Appeals decided that this arrangement was unconstitutional. In 1880 an act was passed (ch. 1312, Acts 1880) providing for an auditor's agent.

1868. Passage of some act recommended, which will insure a full, just, and equal valuation of property of state; present valuations unreasonably low and unequal. (Same 1867/8: 6.)
——. With suggested alteration of existing laws, insuring full, fair, just and equal valuation of taxable property of state, and prompt and certain collection of revenue, and change of basis of valuation from gold to currency, the present deficit in revenue ordinary should soon be supplied, and no occasion for further loans from sinking fund to supply wants of treasury; without adoption of such suggestions, an increased rate of tax on the $100, inevitable, or credit of state must be impaired by its inability to meet promptly its current expenses. (Same 1867/8: 7.)
——. Increase in revenue to be derived from changing basis of valuation from gold to currency. (Same 1867/8: 7.)
——. In many instances, comrs. of tax copy valuation of property from old comrs.' books, or allow owners to list it at mere nominal value; evils of this practice should be overcome by stringent legislation, or by entirely new system of valuations. (Same 1867/8: 6.)

(Same 1869/70: 66-129.)

Recommendation for amdmt. to law so as to prevent bd. of equalization making any reduction in assessments; and requiring it to adopt as standard highest rate per cent upon actual cash value at which returns for yr. shall show each species of property to have been assessed anywhere in state. (Govs. mess. 1885: 10.)

——. Returns of assessors for 1886 show loss, as compared with those of 1885; decrease found in 78 cos., many of which rank among richest and most prosperous cos. in state—one co. alone, Union, giving assessment of $920,260 less than 1885, although rwy. was completed to co. seat during yr.; apparent that this general reduction was made by assessors under belief that law establishing bd. would be re-
